

Join us for the 34th Kemptville Winter Woodlot Conference Covid Edition

February is the traditional time for woodlot owners to gather in Kemptville for the winter woodlot conference. Like other organizations affected by the COVID pandemic, the KWWC has had to adapt. So, through the month of February, the planning committee has put together a weekly series of FREE noon hour webinars. As in the golden days of TV/radio you are invited to gather around your computer screen to listen and view to our special forest themed presentations.

Forest Health - February 3, 2021 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM

Gypsy Moth Outbreak 2020

The presentation will provide an synopsis of this past years outbreak in eastern Ontario and the steps that landowners can take if they spot the Gypsy moth in their woodlots.

Eric Boysen, Retired Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry, Landowner

Wildlife - February 10, 2021 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM

Wildlife Trees in Your Woodlot

The presentation will cover all wildlife trees, which includes nut and fruit trees, and other features including cavity trees, isolated conifers and stick nests.

Jodi Hall, Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry

Indigenous - February 17, 2021 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM

Tree Marking for Woodlot Owners

Tree marking course presentation on indigenous values

Ethan Hunter, Natural & Cultural Resource Strategist, Algonquins of Ontario Consultation Office

Forest Management - February 24, 2021 12:00 PM to 1:00 PM

Wildland Fire: Prevention and Mitigation Strategies

The presentation will look at wildland fire risk and methods to mitigate impacts of wildland fire.

Robin Vernon, Regional Fire Advisor, Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry

To register for the webinars, please go to the Eastern Ontario Model Forest website (<http://www.eomf.on.ca>). Once registered you will receive an email that your registration has been received. Approximately 1-2 days prior to the webinar you will receive an invitation to attend with login instructions.

Presentations may be subject to change.

We would like to acknowledge the financial support of our last year's sponsors...

